What investment services and advice can you provide me?

Eagle's View offers investment advisory services to retail investors. The Firm is an alternative investment management firm which offers an advisory business that assists clients in selecting and overseeing hedge fund investments on an ongoing basis. In addition, Eagle's View provides investment advisory services to a number of privately-offered pooled investment vehicles. The Firm monitors retail investors' investments on a monthly basis. Generally, this service is offered as part of the Firm's standard services. Eagle's View holds discretionary authority over the pooled investment vehicles for which it serves as the investment manager. The scope of the Firm's authority in this capacity is described in the respective offering memorandum for each particular investment vehicle. Additionally, Eagle's View operates an advisory business for which its services are non-discretionary. In this type of arrangement, the retail investor makes the ultimate decision regarding the purchase or sale of investments. The Firm also offers an investment strategy via separately-managed accounts. The Firm's advice is generally limited to these types of investments. In order for a retail investor to open or maintain an account or establish a relationship, Eagle's View generally requires a minimum investment amount of $1 million for an investment in one of its pooled investment vehicles, or $10 million to establish an advisory relationship. Such amounts may be waived or modified by the Firm in its sole discretion. Additional information regarding the Firm's services is available by accessing its Form ADV Part 2A at <https://adviserinfo.sec.gov>.

Ask our financial professionals these key questions about our investment services and accounts:

- Given my financial situation, should I choose an investment advisory service? Why or why not?
- How will you choose investments to recommend to me?
- What is your relevant experience, including your licenses, education, and other qualifications? What do these qualifications mean?

What fees will I pay?

The principal fees and costs that retail investors will incur for our investment advisory services are, clients are charged an annual performance fee based on a certain percentage of the investment returns attributable to their account, and are not charged any expenses associated with their investments. The use of a performance-based fee creates the potential for a conflict of interest because the Firm may have an incentive to recommend investments with a higher degree of risk in order to obtain more favorable results and thereby increase the amount of fees due to the Firm. A performance-based fee creates the potential for a conflict of interest because the more assets a retail investor has in their account, the more they will pay potentially pay in fees since the Firm's fees as a percentage of a retail investor's gains will be a larger amount if the investor has a larger balance of assets that is advised by the Firm. While advisory clients are charged only an annual performance fee associated with their investments, and are not charged any expenses by Eagle's View, they will be charged fees and expenses by external managers associated with the external investments that the Firm recommends. Such fees and expenses will be disclosed in the relevant offering documents or account agreements associated with each particular investment and may include, for example, administration fees and expenses, and brokerage commissions and transaction costs.

You will pay fees and costs whether you make money or lose money on your investments. Fees and costs will reduce any amount of money you will make on your investments over time. Please make sure you understand what fees and costs you are paying. Additional information regarding the Firm's fees and costs is available by accessing its Form ADV Part 2A at <https://adviserinfo.sec.gov>.

You should ask us the following questions:

EAGLE'S VIEW CAPITAL MANAGEMENT, LLC
FORM CRS – MARCH 31 , 2024

- Help me understand how these fees and costs might affect my investments. If I give you $10,000 to invest, how much will go to fees and costs, and how much will be invested for me?

What are your legal obligations to me when acting as my investment adviser? How else does your firm make money and what conflicts of interest do you have?

When we act as your investment adviser, we have to act in your best interest and not put our interest ahead of yours. At the same time, the way we make money creates some conflicts with your interests. You should understand and ask us about these conflicts because they can affect the investment advice we provide you. Here is an example to help you understand what this means.

- Third-Party Payments: Neal Berger, President of Eagle's View, as a Registered Representative of an unaffiliated broker-dealer, has third-party marketing relationships whereby the broker-dealer with which he is registered is compensated for raising assets for hedge funds from a number of the external advisors delegated or recommended by the Firm to Eagle's View clients. These relationships create a conflict of interest because they create an incentive for the Firm to recommend that clients invest in hedge funds with which Mr. Berger's broker-dealer has a third-party marketing relationship so that Mr. Berger can collect fees both in his capacity as President of Eagle's View, and in his capacity as a Registered Representative for the same investment.

You should ask us the following question:

- How might your conflicts of interest affect me, and how will you address them?

More detailed information regarding the Firm's conflicts of interest is available by accessing its Form ADV Part 2A at <https://adviserinfo.sec.gov>.

How do your financial professionals make money?

Our financial professionals make money through salaries and performance-based bonuses. For those professionals who hold ownership interests in the Firm, they are compensated as owners of the Firm in the event that it is profitable, which is in addition to any salary and bonus they receive. The use of performance-based bonuses creates a conflict of interest because it incentivizes those financial professionals who manage investments to take on a higher degree of risk in order to achieve higher profits so that the amount of their performance-based bonus will be larger.

Do you or your financial professionals have legal or disciplinary history?

No. For a free and simple search tool to research Eagle's View and its financial professionals, please visit Investor.gov/CRS.

You should ask us:

- As a financial professional, do you have any disciplinary history? For what type of conduct?
